Nexi Group chooses TAS Group's cashless 3.0 suite to accelerate its time to market

Mercury Payment Services, a Nexi Group company, has adopted the TAS Group payments platform to offer ever more flexible and customizable issuing services to its partner banks

Milan, 12th September 2019 - Nexi Group, through Mercury Payment Services, has chosen TAS Group's cashless 3.0 platform to be more competitive and responsive to market changes in the issuing of new payment cards.

The TAS Group payments suite was selected because it allows complete management of the entire payment product lifecycle, including aspects such as fraud, disputes, security and clearing with the international Card Networks. The customization and integration with the systems and processes already in place at Mercury Payment Services was carried out in just a few months making it possible to deliver the cashless 3.0 platform to a primary customer of the Group and go live before the summer.

The project was successfully delivered to the full satisfaction of all parties thanks to TAS Group's deep experience in the sector and the cashless3.0 suite's technological infrastructure, which is fully in line with the latest market standards. The platform architecture is designed to optimize and make available the individual microservices that make up the payment processes, to give issuers ample flexibility and allow new features and use cases to be rapidly implemented, also in partnership with third parties.

"It's a source of great pride to be able to concretely demonstrate our evolved and versatile Fintech capabilities on the market. The technology on which we have repositioned our platforms is fully aligned with the latest market standards, and enables complete management of the entire lifecycle of payment products including fraud management, disputes, security and clearing with the international Card Networks", commented Massimiliano Quattrocchi, SVP Global Payments at TAS Group.
